Quaker Quest

a spiritual path for our time

a spiritual path for our time

This is a new movement among Quakers to reach out and to introduce others to the Quaker way. Quaker Quest has swept across the United Kingdom and is well underway in the Delaware Valley and beyond.

If you are looking for a new spiritual pathway, the personal experience of today's Quakers may seem right for you. Through Quaker Quest, Quakers with diverse backgrounds and experiences share stories of their own spiritual journeys.

Quaker Quest sessions are open to all and are offered weekly at the same time and place. Participants explore a different topic at each session. Several topics are offered in a series.

All gatherings are casual, friendly and free. Topics may be repeated to accommodate busy schedules.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Quaker Quest is a series of informal presentations and discussions, with opportunities to meet new people and experience the unique Quaker worship, based on gathered, expectant silence.

WHO MAY ATTEND?

Everyone is welcome!

WHERE ARE THE SESSIONS?

Within the four-state region of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, a number of Quaker meetinghouses are offering this program.

WHAT DO OTHERS SAY?

As I listened to others tell about their spiritual journeys, I felt I had finally come home. It seemed they were speaking my own thoughts.

I liked the welcome I was given, the informality... the assurance that I had discovered something meaningful... and to my surprise, I was comfortable with silence.
